These presentations, along with the facilitator, will then set the scene for the interactive component of the workshop. The room will be split into groups to workshop different 'cost vs value' scenarios. At the end of the workshop each group will present their 2-minute elevator pitch and will be judged and scored accordingly. This is a great professional development exercise linked to evaluating a real-life scenario, developing a response and then being able to communicate that into a 2-minute elevator pitch, which in business is sometimes the only time you have to make an impression. Facilitator: Peter Nicol, Global Vice President, Jacobs Presenters: Peter Nicol, Global Vice President, Jacobs Rosie Wheen, CEO, WaterAid - Water: Cost vs Value in Underprivileged Communities Cail Rayment (YWP of the Year 2017), A/Manager, Demand Management - Regions and Remote, Power and Water Corporation - Challenges and Solutions to Providing Sustainable Water in a Remote NT Context Judges: Dr Adriana Marais, Ozwater'18 Keynote Speaker Simon Tilleard, Program Manager, AWP Richard Petterson, Executive Leader Operations and Service Delivery, Queensland Urban Utilities Rosie Wheen, CEO, WaterAid
